Formation: Progressive and change partner dance for five couples, one head and four side-couples, facing into set

- A 1-8 Side couples right-and-left-through and back with the opposite side couples while, on bars 3 and 4 the head couple moves half-way down the centre and, on bars 7 and 8, continues down to the bottom of the set.
- 9-12 Side couples circle left once round with opposite couple in two rings of four, while head couple separates and casts back to home place.
- 13-16 All back-to-back with partners.
- B 1-4 All five ladies chain, i.e. all five women right-hand star past partner and past next man to the third man, who chains them round with the left hand in the usual manner. (Head man should chain his woman round fairly fast, so that she may get back easily into the star that follows.)
- 5-8 All five ladies chain on two more places as above, where they should meet their new partners, i.e. their original corners.
- 9-12 All promenade new partner to next place counter-clockwise round the set, where they balance right and left once.
- 13-16 All swing new partners in new places, finishing ready to start again.

REPEAT the whole dance four times more, when all should be home.

NOTE: This dance was commissioned by the Adult Section of the Kentucky Mountain Folk Festival and is here included with their kind permission. It should be played pretty fast and should be danced with as much fun and verve as possible, though never letting it get completely out of control!
